MOTIVATION

I'm a "can-do" guy, passionate to create value that makes people's lives better. Stay lean by focusing on what's important, be effective and proactive, innovate and be future proof both business- and technology-wise - this is what I like.

Investing time and effort into innovative and usable solutions is how I work and live. I have a solid technical background combined with a product oriented mindset: understanding and prioritising customer needs, envisioning solutions, breaking down functionality into meaningful increments, leading development and sharing the wonderful results with the public motivate me. I am used to working on multiple challenges simultaneously.
